

NSW/ACT DTSC WORKSHOP

John Keady (PhD, RMN)

Internationally renowned professor of dementia nursing John Keady is visiting Australia in December to present a series of workshops and lectures on the importance of involving people with dementia and their families in the research process.

John currently leads the Dementia and Ageing Research Team at the University of Manchester in the UK and has a particular interest in social research and the lived experience of dementia.

He has written/co-authored a number of books and articles about dementia care. He is founding and co-editor of the journal Dementia: The International Journal of Social Research and Practice.

John holds a joint appointment between the University of Manchester and the Greater Manchester West Mental Health NHS Foundation Trust where he has a clinical base.

Involving people with dementia in research

A workshop for anyone with an interest in dementia. Professor John Keady will look at the experience of the University of Manchester's Dementia and Ageing Research Team in involving people with dementia and their families in the research process.

This includes an explanation of a particular method called 'centre stage diagramming' that John has developed with Dr Sion Williams at Bangor University. Workshop participants will be able to share their own experiences, successes, concerns and challenges.
